Queen Speaks To Canadians

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II told Canadians tonight in her first live television speech she hopes to come see them again in two years, and perhaps bring her two children for a visit.

In English and French, the 31-year-old Queen thanked the people for their hospitality on her visit in 1951 as a princess, apologized for staying only four days this time, and said she hopes she will be back in 1959 for the St. Lawrence Seaway opening.

"We hope," she said, including her husband Prince Philip who is with her now, "we hope that one day we shall be able to bring our children here."

Her visit in 1959 will be more extensive, she said. Her present stay, confined to Ottawa, ends Wednesday when she goes to the United States.

Hopeful
"In 1959 I am hoping to be present when the St. Lawrence Seaway is opened," she explained, "and then I hope to take that chance to travel more widely across the country."

The Queen did not ignore Canada's industrial advances and economic strength. She praised "adventurous undertakings" and exclaimed "great things have happened in the last six years" since her previous visit.

Earlier she and Philip went to church for Canada's Thanksgiving Sunday services.

On the way, they stopped in the brilliant sunlight in Confederation Square and laid a wreath of oak and maple leaves at Canada's National War Memorial. Philip quipped with war veterans.

Elizabeth noted in her speech that when she opens the 23rd session of the Canadian Parliament tomorrow she will be the first sovereign to do that personally. She set the tone of informality immediately with the words:

Personally
"Tomorrow I shall address your representatives. Tonight I want to talk to you more personally."

It was the kind of approach some critics of her oratorical style had called for. But nobody in the royal entourage would say that she changed her platform style because of such criticism.

East Stroudsburg Part Of Will Mystery

EAST Stroudsburg is very much a part of a tremendous mystery — one that would probably put the great Sherlock Holmes to shame.

The mystery deals with a will, a half-million dollars and two men that nobody in East Stroudsburg ever heard of — at least nobody The Daily Record can locate.

All the excitement began two weeks ago when Mrs. Charles Schwartzgood died in London, Ontario — which everyone knows is in Canada. Mrs. Schwartzgood supposedly divided her will between a son, Charles Jr., London, Ont., and L. Clifford Spickler, 1001 Station Road, Langhorne.

According to the tale, which is rapidly taking on the appearance of a hoax, East Stroudsburg is actually the key to the entire affair.

Schwartzgood supposedly operated a tool and die plant in the East Borough right up to the 1955 flood. Spickler was an employee of the firm. Spickler first became close to Schwartzgood in 1918 in France, where both were members of the United States Air Force. A bomb is said to have burst on the field and badly injured the two men. Despite injuries to his leg and body, Spickler dragged Schwartzgood to a nearby shelter and called doctors who treated both men. Schwartzgood was hit by shrapnel in the abdomen. Spickler received the Purple Heart and Croix DeGuerre for his battlefield heroics.

In 1955, just as the August floods were lashing Monroe County, Schwartzgood suffered a heart attack. Spickler tried to get his employer to the General Hospital of Monroe County. But, all roads were washed away and he was unable to make the trip.

According to the story, Spickler somehow got Schwartzgood to the hospital in Newton, N.J., where he died. But, two weeks later Schwartzgood suffered another attack and died.

Spickler is 56 and is currently employed by a Trenton rubber firm. He has also worked as a printer and is an amateur painter.

Spickler is the father of a 15-year-old son and a two-year-old daughter, and is described as "quiet and retiring."

A thorough check of East Stroudsburg residents and area industrialists last night failed to uncover any knowledge of Spickler and Schwartzgood. Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg borough police were also unable to identify either man.

The story of the trip to the Newton Hospital during the flood also drew its share of doubt from those questioned.

The Associated Press was unable to trace anyone by the name of Charles Schwartzgood in London, Ont. last night.

Spickler also revealed that he hadn't been informed officially of any bequest from his friend.

The story was supposedly first presented by Charles Schwartzgood Jr. in a telephone conversation with a Trenton, N.J. reporter.

Meanwhile — East Stroudsburg's part in the story remains a mystery.

Rocket Takes Play From 'Sputnik'

East Germany Seals People From World

BERLIN, Oct. 13 (AP) — Communist East Germany sealed off its people from the outside world today while it pushed through a blitz currency changeover that cost the West millions.

In a surprise broadcast at 7 a.m. Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl ordered the 18 million East Germans to surrender their money for the new currency before 9 p.m.

Communist police and officials immediately began herding sleepy-eyed citizens to emergency conversion centers in banks, schools, factories and restaurants to get the new bills at the exchange rate of one for one.

Each citizen was allowed cash for what he surrendered, up to 300 marks—about $16 at the Western exchange rate. The Reds promised the balance could be drawn from banks starting next Saturday.

Western experts said this will give the Stalinist regime a detailed accounting of the money held by each citizen and open the way for a new squeeze on what little private business remains.

The old East German currency issue of about five billion marks became valueless — except for coins and bills up to one mark.

As gun-toting Red police and soldiers closed a steel ring around the satellite nation, untold millions of East marks held in West Berlin and West Germany became worthless.

First Time
For the first time since the 1948 Russian blockade, the autobahn road link between West Germany and isolated West Berlin was closed to German traffic. East Berliners were forbidden to enter West Berlin. Pedestrians entering East Berlin from the West were picked up by police or questioned and searched on the spot.

Western officials met to consider a protest to the Russians against what they regarded as a violation of the four-power occupation accord on free German traffic within Berlin and on the autobahn link to West Germany.

The autobahn, which runs between Berlin and Helmstedt, was reopened one minute after the conversion had officially ended. West German police said Communist border guards checked through more than 100 cars in the first hour.

The official East German news service ADN reported 80 persons were apprehended by Communist police at the East-West Berlin border today while attempting to smuggle a total of 90,000 old East marks from West Berlin for conversion.

In his broadcast the East German Premier charged that East marks had been hoarded in West Germany and West Berlin for currency speculation and for the financing of espionage organizations.

RUSSIA'S artificial moon circles the earth every 95 minutes at an altitude of 558 miles.

U. S. Cracks 'Moon' Code

WASHINGTON, October 13 — Navy cryptographers and scientists have broken "Sputnik's" code, it was revealed today by Robert S. Allen, columnist who appears daily on the editorial page of The Daily Record.

They have definitely established it is transmitting meteorological data.

This deciphered information is now being communicated to U.S. weather and other authorities.

Under the tenets of the International Geophysical Year, the "Sputnik's" reports should be made available to all participating countries. Not only has the Soviet not yet done that, but has given no indication if and when it will do so.

This disregard of IGY precepts is squarely in line with the ironclad secrecy maintained by the Reds throughout regarding their activities in this world-wide scientific program.

Operation Deep Freeze Begin Groom Beards As Spring Hits Antarctica

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica, Oct. 13 (AP)—Spring is in the air down here and the men of Operation Deep Freeze III are grooming their beards. Women are coming.

They are two stewardesses on a Pan American Airlines flight scheduled to arrive here at 10 p.m. Tuesday—the first women ever to visit this base for U. S. antarctic explorations.

The men of the operation, who started setting up home here Oct. 1, were preparing a warm welcome for both the stewardesses and the first commercial airlines flight to the antarctic.

Aside from setting the stage for the start of a new round of antarctic explorations, the men work a bit on their beards. They plan a contest for the benefit of the two young stewardesses on their stop here. The men with the blackest, the reddest, the longest and the sexiest beards will win prizes.

First Supplies

At the U. S. base in Little America, closer to the South Pole, the men awaited the first air drop of supplies since last February. The drop was called off today because 65-below-zero temperatures made it too cold for the men to come out of their shelters to collect them. A message from the pole station later said the temperature had risen to 50 below—and the men were ready to receive.

Little America said it had word from the Russians at their Mirny base extending a welcome to the U. S. icebreaker scheduled to visit there later in the season. The Soviet oceanographic vessel Ob is planning to visit Little America and other U. S. stations.

U. S. Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Deep Freeze commander, arrived yesterday and started to prepare for explorations that will take U. S. teams out onto the mysterious Ross ice shelf.

The ice shelf is a mass of ice and snow about the size of France. Mysteriously, the water under it never freezes, although the temperature sometimes reaches 100 below. The ice is believed to be as much as 900 feet thick in some places.

Walter Raps Role Of Two Nations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) says Poland and Yugoslavia are "instruments of Soviet aggression" whose leaders serve the Russian cause.

Walter's remarks are contained in a foreword to biographies of President Gomulka of Poland and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia published by the House UN-American Activities Committee of which Walter is chairman.

Aid
He criticized United States aid to the two countries. He said information in the biographies is of "particular significance in the light of the current action of the White House and the State Department in designating both Poland and Yugoslavia as potential allies of the United States and, on this basis, granting them extensive aid."

Egypt Reveals Trade Pact

CAIRO, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Egyptian Ministry of Commerce announced today conclusion of a supplementary trade agreement with Hungary which would increase trade between the two countries by $228,250 annually.

A communiqué said the agreement stipulated the increase would be for the exchange of Egyptian vegetables, fruits and salts for Hungarian wireless equipment, chinaware, tinned meat, and alcohol.

Algerian Rebellion At Low Ebb

ALGIERS, Oct. 13 (AP)—The French say the three-year-old nationalist rebellion in Algeria is at its lowest ebb since the Suez Canal crisis a year ago.

"We are very optimistic," said a highly placed officer in headquarters of the 400,000-man French army here. "The rebellion has lost its speed and has been continuing to do so in the past few months."

Wire Maze

French authorities in this principal city of Algeria attribute this to the partial closing of the Tunisian and Moroccan borders through which they claimed the nationalist guerrilla forces received most of their arms and supplies. They said that in September only 350 weapons trickled into mountain-based rebel hands—compared with an average of 250,000 before the frontiers were sealed. French officers believe that cut off from their bases in neighboring Tunisia and Morocco, the rebels will be forced to give up their fight for independence from French rule.

A powerful barbed and electrified wire maze and a minefield combination has been set up along 200 miles of the Tunisian border. Additional construction is envisaged farther south. On the Moroccan side, to the west, a barbed wire and mine barrier closes the upper part of the mountain frontier.

Sweden Downs Plan

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 13 (AP)—Sweden's voters today rejected a compulsory pension system which would have granted retired employees 65 per cent of the salaries earned during their best working years.

Knowledge

"We know it is losing altitude," the spokesman said, but added that whether the plunge will come in days, weeks or months has not yet been calculated.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said that when Sputnik finally falls to earth many of its instruments can be recovered if it lands in an accessible area.

When it gets to within 30 to 50 miles of the earth the satellite's surface will be red hot and glow like a meteor. Dr. Whipple said at Cambridge, Mass.

"It will probably burn but by no means disintegrate," he said. "It will hit the ground not much harder than an object thrown from a high flying plane."

"Contact with the atmosphere will destroy the sensing instruments on its surface but enough of its internal system will be left for analysis," Dr. Whipple added.

A retired Weather Bureau meteorologist meanwhile claimed to have spotted all three components of the Russian satellite—the rocket, the nose cone and satellite itself.

Robert H. Dole of Cape Elizabeth, Maine, said "it was one of the most beautiful sights I've ever seen."

Time
He said the rocket went by first at 5:14 a.m., followed a few minutes later by the very faint image of the nose cone, with the satellite last.

Sputnik itself showed up today apparently right on schedule. Dr. John P. Hagen, Vanguard director, has said that the satellite will maintain a fixed orbit and stay up a year or more.

The burnt-out rocket remnant, less dense than the tightly packed satellite, is believed to be more subject to frictional slowing down in the extremely rarefied atmosphere where the two bodies are orbiting.

And the lightweight satellite, equipped with miniature instruments, which the United States plans to send up is believed likely to behave more like the rocket than like Sputnik.

While the Naval Laboratory wouldn't discuss this aspect of the rocket study, other scientific sources said that obviously all possible information about what happens to the Russian rocket when it re-enters the dense atmosphere will be of absorbing interest to U. S. technicians trying to develop an intercontinental ballistic missile weapon.

Such missiles would arch up into the edge of space before falling on their targets.

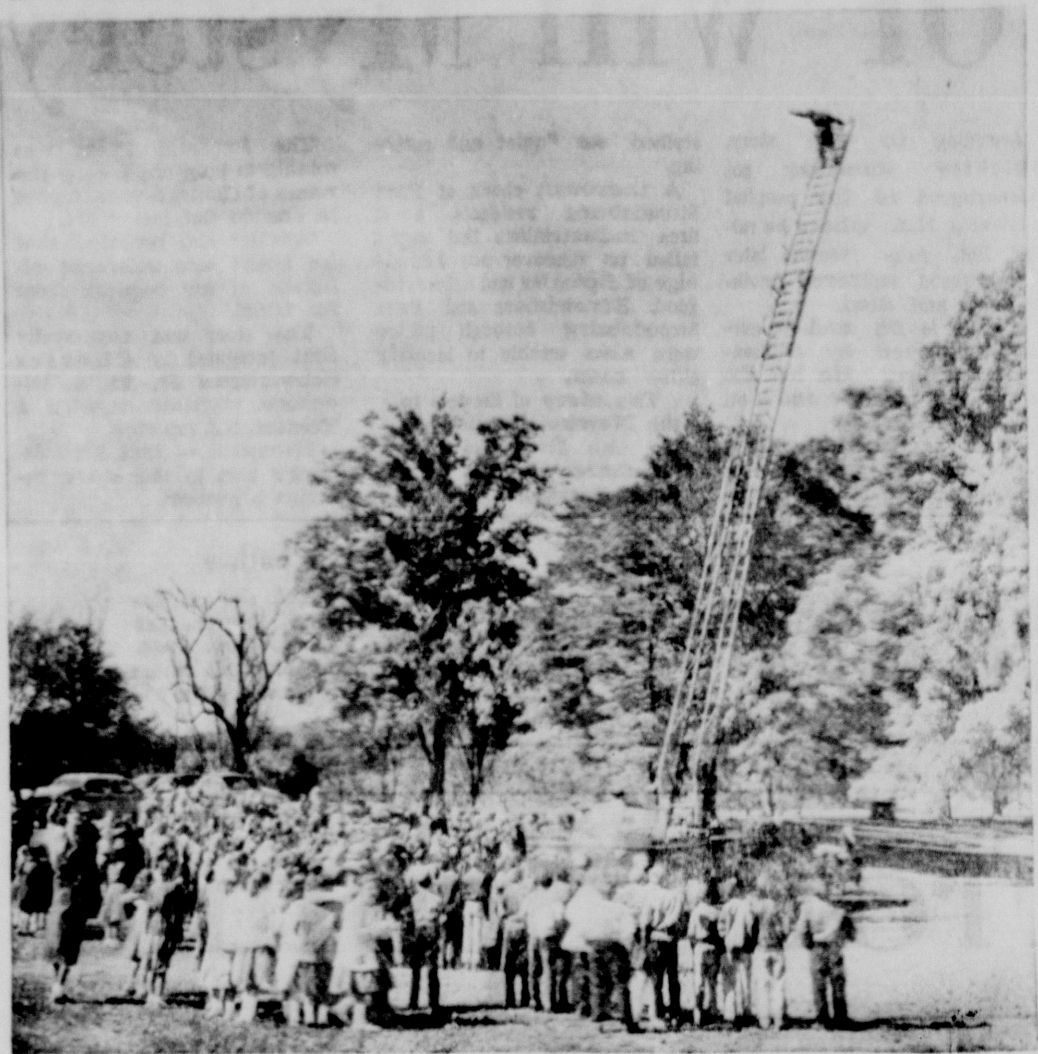

One source said there is little hard data about what happens and "some very great scientists may be fooled" by the fall of the Russian rocket.

To track and observe the rocket, scientists must rely on visual sightings since the rocket does not have Sputnik's means of reporting by radio.

Judge Orders Payment Of Back Wages

JUDGE Thomas J. Clary, of the United States District Court in Philadelphia, last weekend, found Harry Call and John Call, partners in Seasonal Sportswear Company, Tobyhanna, Call Sportsweave Co., Inc., with plants in West Bangor and Pen Argyl, and Ernest Call, individually and doing business as Jim Thorpe Sportswear Co., Jim Thorpe, guilty of civil contempt of a 1956 court judgment and ordered them to pay back wages in the total amount of $1,234.11 to 12 present and former employees.

The action was instituted by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell through Solicitor of Labor Stuart Rothman.

The firms are engaged in the manufacture of women's blouses which are shipped throughout the United States.

The 1956 court order had directed compliance with the minimum wage, overtime and record-keeping provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act. Violations cited in the charges had been uncovered by Wage-Hour investigators of the U. S. Labor Department.

This civil action also directs the companies to pay total compensatory fines in the total amount of $1,200.

County Temperatures

It's Time For Action

It's about time Monroe County starts looking to the future instead of relying on the past or following the lead taken by some other county.

We refer specifically to the closely related subjects of planning and zoning.

Last week, County Solicitor Leo A. Achterman was quoted as saying he was trying to find out how many sixth and seventh class counties in Pennsylvania have planning or zoning commissions in operation.

If his purpose is to learn what other counties in our population range are doing to set up orderly planning programs for the future, we will be the first to congratulate him. Such a step would help Monroe County heighten the tempo of its planning program, which regrettably has been moving at a snail's pace — if at all.

If we interpret this and previous remarks correctly, however, we take it he is interested chiefly in finding reasons for not getting solidly behind Monroe County Planning Commission's efforts to put physical urban planning on a going basis, through an appropriation of funds.

Members of the commission were appointed on a non-partisan basis by the previous board of county commissioners. That was about 22 months ago. The planning commission has since made several attempts to move out on a program that would provide orderly planning for a county which is growing and promises to grow even faster in the future. Lack of funds has stalled the commission, however, and there is no indication to date that any county funds are forthcoming.

The planning commission met late last week and asked the county commissioners to earmark $12,000 in the 1958 budget for the start of a planning survey to be undertaken by a prominent firm of planning consultants.

The federal government would share half the costs of a survey during the first two years and the state would provide technical assistance. Such a survey should be undertaken as speedily as possible to cope with the "growing pains" that are certain to develop in the next few years.

Expansion of industry is already under way, millions of dollars are to be spent in building superhighways and improving present roads in the county, and a number of major recreation projects that will attract many thousands of people are in prospect.

The need for a planning survey and established program for Monroe County is evident. It matters not whether any other county our size has adopted such a program. Monroe County is progressive enough to do its own thinking and need not follow any other county's lead.

We urge county officials to view the planning commission's request sympathetically. We have contended all along that the cost of setting up a planning program will be repaid many times over in the protection it will provide property owners. We haven't changed our mind.

Senses Public Opinion

It is impossible to understand an event without some recognition of the environment in which the event occurs.

Recently I wrote on the nature of the Arkansas population. The United States is composed of so many varieties of peoples, so many different combinations of folks, that any generalization about the American people proves to be incorrect in some locality. Therefore I was especially grateful when an editor of the "Arkansas Democrat" of Little Rock wrote to me about his state, which is now internationally so newsworthy. He wrote:

"The institution of slavery came to Arkansas long before statehood. John Law's German and French Catholic colonists under a Jewish manager brought the first Negro slaves to Arkansas Post in 1719 where Henri de Tonti in 1686 had established the first permanent European settlement in the Lower Mississippi valley.

"The mountain counties of Arkansas were settled by pioneers from the Southern Appalachians, who . . . sprang from British highland stock. Families from the Tidewater belt of Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama, and from Kentucky and Mississippi settled the cotton lands of Southern and Eastern Arkansas. Some of our lowland families trace their ancestry to French and Spanish colonists. . . .

"Public school facilities are available to all children in the Ozarks and every other geographical division. Some of the Ozark towns have public libraries, and the State Library Commission operates several regional libraries in the mountain area.

"The University of Arkansas, College of the Ozarks, Arkansas College, John Brown University and Ft. Smith Junior College are all located in the Ozarks. Up until recently there were two state vocational schools in Northern Arkansas, Arkansas Polytechnic College and Arkansas State Teachers College, which are south of the Ozarks, always draw a large number of students from the hills. Ozark folks established the first colleges in the state, beginning in 1852.

"Our northwest counties are among the most progressive counties of the state. They balanced their agriculture long before the rest of Arkansas got interested in diversification. "Although the hill counties furnished several thousand troops in the Union Army, the majority of the able-bodied men fought for the South. Few of them owned slaves, but they were not indifferent to states' rights. The most decisive battle west of the Mississippi was fought at Pea Ridge in Benton County, and now the federal government is making a national battlefield park there."

I found this account interesting because it is from the hill-folk that Governor Orval Faubus springs. He started as a school teacher, then moved into all sort of public offices, circuit clerk, county recorder, postmaster, highway commissioner, administrative assistant to the governor and director of highways. He edited and owned a newspaper, the "Madison County Record." It has been strictly a political career, moving step by step upward in his state.

In this sense, it has not been anything startlingly dramatic but it has been one in which power is steadily being built. His early supporters were the so-called liberals. He has apparently split with them altogether but an experienced politician would not have risked such a split with his early backers unless he knew that he had the support of other substantial elements in the population. I have not been to Arkansas during the present conflict but I have used the telephone, and I think it would be a safe bet that if Faubus ran for governor tomorrow, he would be re-elected.

This does not mean that he is any better or any worse than people choose to think; it does mean that he is obviously an astute politician who has managed to sense public opinion in his state and to congeal it in his favor.

That curiously is the genius of the American form of government which is stronger in its states than in the federal government. The principle of local autonomy motivates all political thinking and as much as some would like to get away from states' rights and state consciousness, in every conflict of attitude between the federal administration and the states, the belief in states' rights is intensified.

It is for this reason that the thinking of some New Dealers that the state should be abolished, as an antiquated institution, has not prevailed. Reactions to recent Supreme Court decisions have strengthened the belief in many parts of the country that states' rights must be preserved.

Secret Capitalists

If you haven't had a good giggle lately, consider the hilarious incident at a Moscow TV station the other night. It was a perfect example of why the Russian people can't be trusted — by their masters in the Kremlin.

There was this program, "Evening of Merry Questions," and all of a sudden it developed into one of those American give-away shows. The announcer urged viewers to don heavy clothing and rush to the studio, where prizes would be awarded to the first three spectators to arrive in proper winter dress.

Within minutes Moscow's TV screens were inundated with viewers, bundled to the eyebrows, and demanding loot. The announcer was blotted from sight, although his voice could be heard pleading with the mob to disperse so the show could go on. Then the program went off the air, followed by an announcement that the show was being cancelled because of "technical reasons."

We have a pretty good idea what those "technical reasons" were. Once again the Russian people have been unmasked as secret capitalists, and there's more work for the brain-washers.

The Pennsylvania Story

Embarassing Situation

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg—On its way to the Governor's desk for gubernatorial approval and signature is an interesting document—a document that could put the Governor in the position of a square peg in a round hole.

This is the story: This column has learned that a move is afoot whereby the Commonwealth will enter into a five-year lease contract for two State Police substation quarters that haven't even been built as yet.

The lease contracts covering these two State Police substation quarters are now proceeding "through channels" en route to the Governor's Office for final approval.

The leases have already been approved by one key Cabinet officer—Secretary of Property and Supplies Andrew S. Bradley, the state agency charged with initial handling of such functions. State Police as such simply enter the picture as a secondary factor—with that agency merely informing the Department of Property and Supplies what its needs may be. In this case "housing," and after that it is up to the Department of Property and Supplies to carry the ball.

How the ball has been carried in this case is of more than passing interest. Here is the record as uncovered by this column:

One State Police substation is to be built in North Warren, Warren County, along U. S. Route 62. The structure specified in the lease is to be a six-room affair — 3000 square feet—including a basement garage to house five vehicles.

This substation, according to terms of the lease, is to be built by A. C. and Ellen Benninger, of Tionesta, Forest County.

Cost of construction for the unit to be paid by the Benningers — not the state — as noted in the lease agreement; $20,000.

The rent which the state would agree to pay—for five years—under terms of the lease: $225 per month.

The other State Police substation proposed in the second lease is at Lock Haven—a five-room structure also providing for a five-car garage in the basement — embracing 2500 square feet.

In this case the lease agreement is with Mrs. Christine McFarland, of Lock Haven, who would erect the structure at a cost to her of $20,000.

The rent for this substation, according to terms of the lease, now going through the mill, would be $250 per month for five years.

Significant is the fact that in neither case were bids solicited.

Nor is it known how selection was made of who would be chosen to build the structures for lease to the state.

Robert S. Allen Reports . . .

Living Costs Static

Washington, Oct. 13—Here is some mighty good pocketbook news—the long upward spiral in the cost-of-living is leveling off.

That is the authoritative estimate of two top government agencies. It is detailed in a study for President Eisenhower by his Council of Economic Advisers. And their views on this far-reaching economic development are strongly supported by the Labor Department's preliminary compilations for its monthly consumer price index, which will be published shortly.

Pending final figures, this widely-regarded report will show that in September, for the first time in 13 months, the overall cost-of-living was the same as in August.

That month it reached a record high of 121; after a steady rise from 116.8 in August, 1956.

Both the Economic Council and the Labor Department cite declines in food prices as a major factor in the overall leveling off of living costs. This factor is deemed particularly important in offsetting increases in medical charges, transportation and "personal care."

A marked easing in the spiraling of wholesale prices is also stressed by the President's Economic Advisers. "The rise in the wholesale price index has slowed," they state in this report. "Prices of raw materials have declined slightly. Prices of intermediate products have been stable. Prices of consumer and producer products are now expected to level off."

The long upward trend of building costs is apt to go on, the White House counselors indicate, but at a slower rate. "Construction costs are continuing to rise," they report, "but more slowly than the 5 percent annual rate that prevailed during most of 1956 and into this year."

The Economic Council favors the Federal Reserve Board's easing its tough "tight money" controls.

On this stand, the Council has the vigorous backing of Dr. Arthur Burns, former chairman of the Council, and Gabriel Hauge, personal economic assistant to the President.

It is the contention of the Council, Burns and Hauge that the inflationary cycle has been effectively reversed, and credit and other fiscal restraints should be lifted. They warn that unless this is promptly done, a serious business upset may result.

Why They're Yelling—There is a powerful trump card behind that bipartisan senatorial clamor for a bare-knuckle investigation of U. S. failure to beat Russia on an earth satellite.

This Soviet "scoop" was forecast in June by the Central Intelligence Agency. It made an explicit warning on that in a report to the Senate Armed Services Committee. The CIA virtually pinpointed what has happened. This report was also given to the National Security Council, the top policy agency, which President Eisenhower presides over personally, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, former Defense Secretary Wilson, and Secretary of State Dulles.

Senate Armed Services Committee members know that. They also know the remarkable accuracy of the CIA's information. That's why Senator Styles Bridges, N. H., who in addition to being a top member of this powerful committee is also chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, is joining the Democrats in demanding a full-scale probe.

The CIA's explosive report also analyzed Russia's internal economic difficulties, and estimated they would intensify both in the Soviet and its satellites. The latter's increasing demands on Russia were deemed a major factor in this situation.

But the CIA stressed the Soviet was going to great lengths to be first with a "sputnik," and would accomplish that feat unless the U. S. made special efforts to avert it.

The senators want to know why that wasn't done after this authoritative warning.

Grease Job — Two Russian destroyers, that made a "good-will" visit to Syria, are performing the same function in Egypt. The vessels' first stop is Port Said, entrance to the Suez Canal, which the Soviet announcement of this tour acclaimed as "the brave heroic city which struggled valiantly and hard against the dastardly tripartite attack of last year."

The only struggling in the town was the frantic rush of the populace for cover, after a number of vessels had been scuttled in the Canal. . . . Advance emissaries of the Sultan of Morocco are in Washington preparing for his state visit in November. He will spend at least one night in the White House. Accompanying Mohammed V will be his very modern and chic daughter, and equally up-to-date sons.

From Our Readers

Urges Action On Detour

Dear Editor:

This second week of October is a memorable one being "Letter Writing Week" as we parents of children going to West Main Street Schools certainly could write many letters in regards to the inconveniences of the bridge detour as you walk or ride to or from West Main Street area.

Monday we drove thru deep waters trying to get our children to school dry, only to find ourselves splashing less fortunate children who had to walk thru the mud and they had no place to run to keep from the mess.

Tuesday we drivers encountered holes and more water. Wednesday we just drove thru horrifying depths with hopes of saving at least one spring in our cars. When I came to a smooth stretch of two feet I looked up only to see three young Morey School boys neatly dressed and on their way to school splashed with mud on those lovely trousers (not dungarees). Then I pictured my little girl's dress had she been walking.

Something must be done to eliminate this West Main Street detour situation for students, pedestrians, and drivers before winter arrives with ice and snow causing still greater problems.

Mrs. Horace Westbrook, The Daily Record.

Dear Bobby:

'Tis is to convey to you and The Daily Record most sincere thanks from the members of The Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs for your excellent coverage of the visit of our guest, Miss Trevedi Rama Ishvarrai, from India.

As you know, the object in our having foreign students visit us is so they can observe the kind of working relation between people which makes the life of an American community healthy, dynamic and optimistic. What the student feels will be radiated to hundreds of her countrymen. In addition, while here, our people are informed by the student of her home environment and the thinking of her own people.

We feel that our goal was accomplished and Rama's visit was extremely successful. We believe that much of this was due to you personally and your newspaper in helping us to make this a community project.

Rama made many friends while here and you were among her first. I know that she valued your friendship and enjoyed the time spent with you and other members of The Record staff. I am sure that I can speak for her in adding her gratitude to ours.

Again, thank you. Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, III, President.

DL&W Lists Changes In Operations

PURSUING A course of action aimed at improved efficiency and more personalized service for shippers, the Lackawanna Railroad announced today a realignment of its operation divisions, with consequent reorganization of supervision.

The rearrangement, which becomes effective October 16th, establishes new territorial limits for the Morris & Essex division at the east end of the railroad. The plan also includes consolidation of the Scranton and Buffalo divisions to be known as the Scranton-Buffalo division.

Headquarters of the Morris & Essex division remains at Hoboken and continues under the supervision of J. A. Craddock, superintendent. Under the realignment that division's western terminal will be Dover, N.J. The M&E division, therefore, will cover all operations of the Lackawanna Railroad, Dover and east, including the New York harbor and will be under the direction of Superintendent Craddock.

Division

The newly formed Scranton-Buffalo division will have headquarters at Scranton, with R. W. Jones as superintendent. R. A. Carroll, formerly superintendent at Buffalo, will be assistant superintendent of the new division, and also will be located at Scranton. He will have increased supervisory responsibilities in joining with Mr. Jones in his extended divisional operations.

P. J. Brannigan, assistant superintendent at Scranton, will be appointed assistant superintendent of the Car Department at Scranton.

At the same time it was announced that E. J. Whalen, trainmaster at Hoboken, is appointed Terminal Superintendent at Buffalo. It was pointed out that this change will permit a more intensive control of Buffalo terminal activities in that the territorial jurisdiction of the Terminal Superintendent will be confined to the Buffalo Terminal. The responsibilities for road operation, now assumed by the division superintendent, under the rearranged setup will be in charge of the Scranton-Buffalo division superintendent located at Scranton.

This streamlined divisional alignment will also permit a more efficient use of personnel, and allow the supervisory forces to give increased attention to operating details. As a result, it is expected that the makeup and dispatch of trains will be expedited and improve Lackawanna's service to and from connections.

Feature

An important feature of the reorganization is the emphasis on centralized control of road freight and passenger operations. Three new positions—Transportation Supervisors—have been established at Scranton, who will have direct jurisdiction and control. This jurisdiction will include motive power utilization and control over through freight train operations as well as power utilization connected with the Morris & Essex division.

The office of the Transportation Supervisors will be headed by J. R. Finan, assisted by D. M. Lawson and L. F. McLean. Mr. Finan and Lawson formerly were chief train dispatchers at Scranton and Buffalo, respectively, and Mr. McLean was system transportation inspector.

The positions of chief train dispatcher and assistant chief train dispatcher at Buffalo will be abolished. Train dispatchers located at Scranton, Binghamton, Buffalo and Bangor, will report to the chief train dispatcher of the New Scranton-Buffalo division. He in turn will be directly under the supervision of the new 24-hour office of the Transportation Supervisor.

In this connection it was pointed out that all existing dispatching territories in the enlarged area will remain the same, with dispatchers at Buffalo, Binghamton, Scranton and Bangor issuing train orders over the signature of the Superintendent of the Scranton-Buffalo division.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I think we've just about had it. The fall foliage. It was a gorgeous weekend, but the fire is dying out of the reds, the sunshines is dimming in the yellows, and bare branches are beginning to show against the sky.

It's just as well because at the rate we'll be traveling this week we're going to have to watch where we're walking instead of gawking at the leaves.

It's a shame for the scheduled speaker at the Women's Club that she got sick, but it couldn't have happened at a better time for the program. Cornelia Gillam was free to speak and has a new dramatic program all ready. I had been envying the Barrett Women their chance to hear her last week, anyway.

This is the eatingest-out week of the month, judging by the calendar. Far as I can figure the next time anybody eats anything but breakfast at home will be next Friday. Wherefore it looks as if I'm ever going to eat up the leftovers from this Sunday's dinner for the crew from school, it will have to be for breakfast. Very peculiar breakfast menu it will make, too.

Well, if the mental fare is as varied as the menus, this should be a very interesting week. Had an interesting Saturday afternoon, too, with the newspaper women's conference here. You should be glad I go because I always come back to work in a mellow mood.

That's because I'm convinced afresh that you are undoubtedly the best makers of news in northeastern Pennsylvania, and not only that but that you spoil me by being considerate, appreciative and understanding — qualities not too common in other areas, it seems.

I'm spoiled anyway. When a whole editorial force of men stays an hour after work to clean up their desks so that my place will look neat for my guests, when one of their wives loans a couple of her own paintings to make it look elegant, and the photographer works on his own time to give them pictures to take home and the head of the business office comes in to make coffee — no wonder I feel spoiled.

Clearview PTA Study Of Union

With the matter of the consolidation of the Hamilton Twp. into the Stroud Union School District coming up for a vote in the November election, the Clearview Parent Teachers Association will discuss the matter fully at its meeting tonight at 8 at the school. The entire membership as well as other interested persons are invited to attend.

The pros and cons of the question will be outlined by Earl Groner, superintendent of the union district, and a question and answer period will follow.

How the programs will follow the theme adopted for the year, "Planning, Thinking, Acting for Your Child and His Future" will be outlined and projects will be decided upon.

According to action taken at the last meeting, there will be no prize for the room having the most parents at the meeting.

The meeting will be held in the school gymnasium.

Delaware PTA Launches New Year Tuesday

Dingman's Ferry — Mrs. James Albright, president of the Delaware Township PTA, reminds all parents of the monthly meeting to be held on Tuesday, October 15, at 8 p.m.

Plans will be made for the Fall season, including the Halloween and Christmas parties.

Knapp Boot Insulate For Cold Weather

THE COLDER it gets, the more you'll appreciate the lightweight, rugged sporting-service boot being featured now by K. N. Werkheiser, Knapp Bros. Shoe Corp. representative.

The Knapp insulated boot is very popular with hunters and outdoor men. It offers warmth and comfort in the coldest weather. This is due to Knapp's famous "Aerotred cushioning" and fine construction.

These boots (which you'll see advertised on this page) are fully insulated with moisture-resistant oil-tanned upper and full, genuine leather lining.

They feature comfortable neoprene cushion crepe soles, plus famous Knapp cushioned comfort.

Drop in at K. N. Werkheiser's, 1206 (Rt.) W. Main St., and see this popular insulated boot.

Annual Sale Begins On Wednesday

"LET'S GO Sale-ing With the Women of Wyckoff's" is the inviting nautical theme of the store's eighth annual observance of Women's Days, scheduled to open Wednesday morning with a parade to be led by Miss Mermaid of 1957.

The parade, beginning at the store at 8:30, and wending up Sixth St., out Monroe to Ninth, and back down Main to the center of town, will be the first event in a four-day chain of activities which will end Saturday at 5 p.m. with the awarding of a valuable mink stole to some lucky customer.

President of this year's promotion is Mrs. Betty Bartholomew, secretary to President Holt Wyckoff, and a member of the store's merchandising staff. Other women assuming executive posts vacated by the men for these four days are: Mrs. Betty Frantz, replacing Fran Meredith as head of the display department; Mrs. Madalyn Maloney, who assumes the work of A. A. Widmer as head of advertising and public relations; and Betty Colvin, who assumes the role of merchandise manager.

Mrs. Blanche Mackey is vice president, and Mrs. Eugenia Kauter is manager of the Sears-Roebuck departments. Assisting Miss Colvin in merchandising are Mrs. Mardee Albert and Mrs. Doris Hinton, second floor merchandisers; and Miss Laura Fabel and Miss Mary Hitesman, first floor merchandisers. Pearl Walter, Dorothy Dunn and Mrs. Maloney comprise the contest committee. Janet McCandless is secretary.

Past presidents of Women's Days form the advisory committee, these being Mrs. Cora Albertson, Mrs. Margaret LaBar, Mrs. Edna Brockman and Mrs. Helen Mitchell. Mrs. Brockman and Mrs. Mitchell are now in Europe with a tour arranged by the Wyckoff Travel Bureau.

Women's Days, it is stressed, are not just promotional days when every department in Wyckoff and Sears rallies to present unusually fine buys for thrifty-minded, pre-Christmas shoppers. They also represent the one time each year when business is tempered with stunts, contests, and "gimmicks," spiced with the awarding of hundreds of prizes.

Some of these valuable gifts are purchased by the women from the budget permitted them by the store, while others are presented by top brand name sources in appreciation for the efforts put forth in their behalf throughout the year by the women of Wyckoff's.

Highlights of this year's sale, heralded by the mailing of more than 5000 "flyers" and marked by an accelerated newspaper and radio advertising program, include the presenting of 12 attendance prizes daily; presentation of samples; conducting of demonstrations and clinics by factory representatives of such companies as Charles V. Parfums, Neechi Sewing Machine, Frigidaire, Easy, and Sunbeam Appliances; the introducing of the entire line of Red Wing outdoor and work shoes for men by Dick Hauschildt of that company; and the honoring of "The Queen for the Day" on Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

The latter is a promotion in cooperation with the Keillor Candy Co., Scotland, honoring both the American visit of Queen Elizabeth, and the candy manufacturers' selection of Saturday as "the sweetest day of the year".

Top prize is a valuable, genuine silver-blue mink stole, to be presented Saturday at 5 p.m.

First Lady Tea

One of the major social events of the four-day sale will be a "First Lady" tea Thursday afternoon at 3:30, honoring presidents or representatives of all women's clubs, lodges, and church groups in the Slate Belt area. There will be prizes, favors, and a light hearted review of her activities as a social news editor by Bobby Westbrook of The Daily Record, and Sally Ferrebee of WVPO.

Special costume and decorations are planned, with the various departments brisily competing for cash awards. These displays will be judged at 10:30 Wednesday by Mrs. Westbrook and Leonard Randolph of The Daily Record, and Sally Ferrebee of WVPO.

CATALOGUING OF MORE than 350 gifts valued at hundreds of dollars is just one of the many jobs associated with "Women's Days at A. B. Wyckoff." Among the women who will "take over the store" Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, are Janet McCandless, secretary to J. L. Kerlin, manager, shown listing the prizes; Jean Decker, chairman of the prize committee, and Betty Frantz, display manager. Top prize will be a silver blue mink stole, to be awarded Saturday at 5 p.m.

Miller's Store Displays Many Wall Decorations

FALL IS HOME Fashion Time in today's home and many homemakers are finding that it's the small details that really accent one's home. Such things as sofa pillows in the right color, draperies, and wall decorations can lend the necessary charm to transform a house into a home.

Modernize Heat Plant

MODERNIZATION of the heating system is the answer to sluggish heat, higher than normal fuel bills, and uneven heat distribution. Robert H. Collins, manager of D. Katz & Sons Plumbing & Heating Dept., points out.

It is times like these that the overhauling of the home heating plant can be carried on with the minimum of interference with family routine.

Hundreds of home heating plants, Collins pointed out, are still limping along with systems originally made for solid fuel.

Fuel economy, more room, and better appearance to say nothing of better heating will result from this change, Collins adds.

Changes Made

Revolutionary changes have been made in heat distributors. Available for replacing old-style radiators are inconspicuous baseboards which provide a high degree of comfort by heating the lower part of the room and blanketing outside walls with a curtain of warmth.

Filtered Air Gives Luxury To Home Life

THE CURTAINS are new, the walls repainted, the furniture done over, Mrs. Doe sits down to admire and pretty soon grins her teeth as she watches the soot and dust from outdoors settle in a fine unattractive film over all.

She dusts, closes the windows and again sits to admire. Pretty soon the air makes her feel as though she were sealed in an old, empty coffee can sitting in the sun.

There is a solution available to homeowners who find that fresh, clean, properly moist air doesn't necessarily come with lots of windows.

Air conditioners clean as well as cool the air that comes in. Dusting, washing, woodwork cleaning, drapes, carpets and furniture are all cut down when it is possible to keep the windows closed and still breathe. Savings on cleaning bills will make a good payment on the cost of the conditioner.

Air conditioning and circulation has become a year-round accessory for those with home humidity problems, sinus trouble, allergies or hay fever.

Present day Carrier Weathermakers are compact enough to fit in a closet . . . and they not only bring clean, filtered air into your home, but heat it as well.

The Carrier Weathermaker is sold, installed and serviced by Lawton Huffman, Craigs Meadows.

A UNIQUE golf match, featuring two pros and two top-flight amateurs, will climax the season at the Glen Brook Country Club, Sunday, Oct. 20.

The duel will pit Harold Storm, Glen Brook champ for the past two years, and Augie Lockwitch, a club champion in the past, against professionals Walt Thiel, of Glen Brook, and John Kupiec, unattached.

Three organizations will benefit from the match, namely, Varsity "E" of East Stroudsburg, Varsity "S" of Stroudsburg, and Glen Brook CC.

The meeting of the "pros and amateurs" should provide interesting entertainment for the followers of the game. Storm and Lockwitch are no novices to the sport, and Thiel and Kupiec are far from the run-of-the-mill linkers on the play-for-pay circuit.

Storm is a king at Glen Brook. For the past three years the unorthodox swinger has turned back all opposition in winning the club crown. Lockwitch, a perennial contender for the title many times when he wasn't claiming the diadem, is always around the top in every kind of tournament.

Thiel, quiet and unassuming, plays a methodical, but good game like most men in their preferred vocation. Kupiec, Stroudsburg High basketball coach and a teacher in the local high school, has been in the professional ranks for five years. However, in this short time, the lanky, soft-spoken educator, has been teaching the followers of fairways and greens as well as a veteran of a quarter of a century on the links.

Those who favor good golf, tinted with the pride and joy of the area, can't afford to miss this quartet teeing off six days from now.

The first shot will be fired at 9:30 a.m. It probably won't be heard around the world, but the explosion will be felt in the "guns" as four of the leading "gun" battle for one-day's supremacy over each other.

The last time Stroudsburg and Wilson High battled on the gridiron, Tom Somers, past president of the Varsity "S" Club, was the star of the clash.

Somers scored all 14 points as the Mountaineers of then coach—Jerry (Whitey) Stulgaitis shutout the Warriors of Walter Hicks, 14-0. The year was 1945.

Jim Pollard, head coach of basketball at LaSalle University, will hold his court clinic against this year. The one-day session will be held at YMCA Camp Hilltop, Downingtown, Pa.

Assisting Pollard, former star basketball player for the Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Association, will be Jack Ramsay, coach at St. Joseph's College; and Bud Laycock, tutor of Sharon High's PIAA Class A champions during the 1956-57 season.

Joe Whalen, Radio Station WFO's sports and program director, has entered a new field. What it is only the "Voice of the Poconos" can answer.

It has been rumored the newest venture is in the natural resources category.

Wells Runs 93 To Pace Steelers

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13 (AP)—Speedy Billy Wells' explosive 96-yard touchdown scamper in the first quarter lit the fuse under the "new look" Pittsburgh Steelers today and earned Coach Buddy Parker's eleven 29-20 National Football League victory over the Chicago Cardinals.

A crowd of 29,446 saw the former Michigan State track star grab a kickoff by Pat Summerall and behind excellent blocking ramble for the Steelers' second touchdown.

The scoring sprint by Wells was the longest in Steeler history. Lynn Chandross raced 93 yards against Philadelphia in 1952 and repeated the feat the following year against New York.

Cardinals 3 3 0 14—29 Pittsburgh 12 14 0 3—20 Chicago Cardinals scoring—touchdowns: Sears (49, run); McMan (1, plunge). Field goals: Summerall 2 (33, 27). Conversions: Summerall 2.

Pittsburgh scoring—touchdowns: Derby (2, plunge); Wells (56, kickoff return); O'Neil (12, run with blocked kick); Morrill (1, plunge). Field goal: Girard (15). Conversions: Girard 2.

Wilson Halts Stroudsburg, 26-7

1st Loss For Mountaineers;

John Schoonover Scores TD

A SET of fleet-footed backs, sprung from the short punt and T-belly offenses, generated Wilson High to a 26-7 victory over Stroudsburg High before 1,500 payees at Gordon Giffels Field Saturday night.

Wilson, with depth to spare at almost every position, threw a devastating ground attack at the Mountaineers for three periods before handing John Whitehead's proteges their first setback of the year. Stroudsburg now owns a 3-1 log.

Stroudsburg's lone score came in the fourth period when halfback John (Butch) Schoonover swung off tackle and raced 45 yards to a touchdown. Ron (Super) Phillips converted for the Mountaineers seventh tally.

The Warriors of Lionel (Bud) Hall, no w3-1 on the season, capitalized on a 15-yard clipping penalty against Stroudsburg to break into the scoring column in the first period.

Don Henrich, easily the best Wilson back on the field, quick-kicked to the Mountaineers 31. However, a Stroudsburger was detected clipping Wilson back on the field, and instead of the Whitehead-men having the ball, Wilson was given possession on its own 43.

Here the Warriors went into high gear and marched 57 yards unopposed to paydirt. Henrich gobbled up 43 of the yards and finally went over for the six-pointer halfway through the opening quarter. Elmer Johnson converted via placement and Wilson led, 7-0.

2 TD's in 2nd

Wilson punched over two touchdowns and an extra point in the second quarter to take a 20-0 spread at halftime. Their all-state candidate Bobby Kline getting into the act and Henrich continuing his line-ripping assault, the Warriors marched 55 yards in seven series and broke a third halfback—Willard Helm—scored from five yards out. Again Johnson split the uprights for the 14th point.

The Warriors went across seconds before the half ended via another long drive—a 53-yarder. But this time Henrich and his mates crossed up the Mountaineers and went to the air for the TD. A nine-yard aerial from second-string quarterback Denny Elliot to Kline gave Wilson its 20th point.

The Mountaineers, after failing for two quarters to crack the center of the huge Wilson line decided to go outside in the second half and the results were more heartening. Stroudsburg actually outfought, out-gained and outscored their highly-touted foes the last half, but the damage had already been done in the first half.

Wide end skirts by Margretto ate up yardage for the locals, but penalties and fumbles halted the bids into Wilson's deep territory.

61-Yard Return

After an exchange of punts, in which Stroudsburg's Bob Kassay was getting the better of Henrich and Art Murray, Wilson marched 70 yards to the Mountaineers' one. But the stout-hearted Stroudsburg line threw back the bid this time and Kassay punted out beautifully to the Wilson 39. But the great kick went for naught as 145-pound Guy Frank picked up the ball and open-field his way 61 yards to a touchdown to give Wilson a 26-0 edge.

Stroudsburg gave its best showing of the night in the fourth period following the recovering of a fumble on the Wilson 45. On the first play from scrimmage, John Schoonover bulleted off right tackle, cut toward the sidelines and shot 45 yards for the Stroudsburg six-pointer. Phillips' extra point ended the scoring for the contest.

ARCLIGHT SHADOWS—Wilson's 100-piece band performed before the contest and received a warm applause from the half-frozen assemblage. The Mountaineers' fine musical organization entertained at halftime.

Stroudsburg High faculty manager of athletics, Mahlon Serfass, was pleased with the turnout, considering the game was scheduled—two days before—on such short notice. Counting everyone in the ballpark, more than 2,000 eyed the contest.

Stroudsburg was a much better team in the final 24 minutes, especially when the Mountaineer defense tightened up and halted the power thrusts of the Warriors from the short punt. In the second half, Wilson's belly series was practically nil, although, it must be said they relied more on the short punt throughout.

In the first half, the Mountaineers defense was aligned more for a passing game, and thus allowed the Wilson runners to get five to eight yards before coming up for the tackles. Wilson, like Stroudsburg, stuck to the ground mainly. Their one scoring aerial was a heave that got between five Stroudsburg defenders, who had surrounded Kline but not enough to keep the fast-stepping Warrior from snatching the ball for the TD.

Giants Erase 'Skins, 28-20

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The New York Giants scored the first time they got their hands on the ball and with Charley Conerly passing to near perfection won 24-20 over the Washington Redskins today.

Conerly, playing the entire game for a change, completed 11 of 13 aerials as the defending National Football League champions won their second straight.

Ben Agajanian added to New York's margin with a last-period field goal from the midfield stripe to set a record for the club and Griffith Stadium.

Sam Barker's two field goals, one sailing 40 yards, kept the Redskins in the game during the first half but the Giants had jumped into a lead at the start and never surrendered it.

A paid crowd of 30,000, largest on opening day in Washington since 1948, saw Bob Schnelker score on a 66-yard pass play from Frank Gifford on the first play from scrimmage.

New York 7 7 7 3—24 Washington 6 0 7 7—20

New York scoring—touchdowns: Schnelker 2 (66, pass-run from Gifford); 2, Pass from Conerly; Gifford (1, plunge). Field goal: Agajanian (5). Conversions: Agajanian 3.

Washington scoring—touchdowns: Podoley (82, pass-run from LeBaron); Carson (12, pass from LeBaron). Field goals: Baker 2 (15, 40). Conversions: Baker (2).

'Hill' Booters Score Early, Defeat Brockport For No. 1

EAST STROUDSBURG Teachers soccer team snapped a three-game losing streak Saturday by defeating Brockport, 2-1, before a homecoming day turnout of 500 on the Warriors field.

Goals by Howie Staeger and Bill Maiorillo in the first period sent ESSTC away to a lead its never relinquished.

Brockport, one of the leading soccer teams in New York, broke into the column in the third period when Gene Johnson dented the ESSTC goal.

Weigner Stars

A sharp performance by Warrior goalie Karl Weigner turned back the several serious threats of Brockport in the last two minutes.

Strong games were played throughout by ESSTC Co-Captain Paul Zintel, and insiders, Bosh Miller and Tom Lenhart.

East Stroudsburg's booters will be idle until Oct. 30 when John Eller's varsity unit takes on Wilkes at home.

The lineups:

ESSTC: G—Weigner; Praising; RE—Zintel; Benton; LF—Maile; Hughes; RH—Himmelsberger; Fisher; CH—Laney; VonSchiller; LW—Ervin; Tauler; LW—Lewin; Woodard; IR—Lenhart; Belling; CF—Staeger; Johnson; IL—Miller; Johnson; OL—Maiorillo; Britt

Browns 'Slug' Eagles, 24-7

CLEVELAND, Oct. 13 (AP)—In a fist-swinging game, which saw seven players ejected for slugging, the Cleveland Browns today won their third straight National Football League victory by handing the Philadelphia Eagles their third straight loss.

The conquest, before 53,493, kept the Browns all alone at the top of the Eastern Division. No punches were pulled. But no one seemed to be too badly hurt in the fistcuffs which marred the entire game. A free-for-all mid-field fight flared in the fourth period. It included all the players from both benches.

Quoted after the brawl were Frank Wydo, Bob Canon, Bill Barnes and Menil Mavradis of the Eagles, and Walt Michaels, Bill Quinlan and Paul Wiggins of the Browns.

The contest was the 12th straight, including this year's exhibitions, in which the Eagles have failed to win. Tempers flared hotly as the Browns demonstrated a clean-cut playing superiority.

Philadelphia 0 0 0 7—7 Cleveland 14 3 7 0—24 Philadelphia scoring—touchdown: Harris (65, pass interception). Conversion: Walston.

Cleveland scoring—touchdowns: Brown (5, pass from O'Connell); Hanulak (61, run); Reynolds (5, run). Field goal: Groza (22). Conversions: Groza 3.

Ike's Pro Victor

NORTHFIELD, N. J., Oct. 13 (AP)—Richard Schleicher of Gettysburg, Pa., President Eisenhower's home pro, easily won the Philadelphia PGA title today with a 7 and 6 victory over Walter Brickley of Mt. Holly.

Pete Keshish is co-captain of Penn's football team for the second straight year. He plays guard. E. LeRoy Mercer was the last to captain two Penn teams. He led the team in 1911 and 1912.

Los Angeles 0 7 0 0—7 Detroit 0 10 0 0—10 Los Angeles scoring—touchdown: Arnett (12, pass from Brocklin). Conversion: Cothren.

New Date

Eastburg Tilt Tomorrow

THE ONCE-postponed East Stroudsburg High and Lehigh Valley grid duel has been moved up to tomorrow night at Lehigh Valley. Eastburg officials announced last night.

The tilt was originally slated for last Friday night but was postponed to today because of the flu epidemic in the Lehigh Valley.

However, Saturday, officials of both schools decided on the Tuesday date, in order that both the Cavaliers and Indians might be at full strength for the game. Game time is 8 p.m.

Colts Swamp Packers, 45-17

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts, who usually can't find the winning combination on the road, exploded for 38 points in the second half today and smashed the Green Bay Packers 45-17 for their third straight National Football League victory.

Alan "The Horse" Ameche bulled over for three touchdowns on plunges of one yard each and Jim Mutscheller caught three scoring passes.

Two, of 15 and 29 yards, were from John Unitas. The third, good for 14 yards was thrown by George Shaw.

Baltimore scoring—touchdowns: Mutscheller 3 (15, pass-run from Unitas); 29, pass-run from Unitas; 14, pass from Shaw; Ameche (1, plunge); 1, plunge; 1, plunge.

Field goal: Reichard (23). Conversions: Reichard 5; Myhra 1.

Green Bay scoring—touchdowns: Knafels (5, pass from Starr); Howton (8, pass from Starr). Field goal: Cone (25). Conversions: Cone 2.

Bowlerettes Elect Officers

NEWFOUNDLAND — Newfoundland Bowlerettes, a women's bowling league which meets at 8 at the Hamlin lanes each Monday evening, elected Virginia Rohrbacher president this week.

Also named were Anne Smith, vice president; Dorothy Haser, treasurer; Frances VanBuskirk, secretary.

Captains chosen were Janet Singer, F. A. Madden and Son; Anne Hinton, Verna Mae's Beauty Shop; Anne Smith, Woljens' Lumber Company; Fran VanBuskirk, I. J. Staph and Son.

Ailing ESSTC Dumped By Lock Haven, 16-6

FLU-HAMPERED and injury-bottled East Stroudsburg State Teachers felt the sting of the malady Saturday as Lock Haven STC hung a 16-6 setback on the Warriors before a 2,000 homecoming day throng on Normal Hill.

Minus first string backs Jim Oplinger, the quarterback in which Coach Eugene Martin's short punt attack is built around, and Dick Bleam, the speedster from Allentown, the Warriors offense suffered throughout as the Bald Eagles dominated play in all departments.

Led by quarterback Steve Magulick and halfbacks George Dintiman and Bill Mumford, the Bald Eagles overcame an early Warrior lead to tie the score by halftime and then go on to tally a touchdown and add an insurance field goal in the second half.

The triumph was the third straight for the Bald Eagles, who themselves were caught by the flu and virus bug a week ago and forced to cancel an encounter. The loss evened ESSTC's record at 2-2.

East Stroudsburg, using boys who were feeling the effects of the flu bug and those who had only recovered the day before, broke away from a scoreless first period which tended to give the impression that the wrong team was ill.

After Dick Merkle fair-caught a punt on his own 43 in the late stages of the opening canto, the Warriors started to roll. First Error! Faunce ripped to the 46 and then the Warrior back passed 15-yards to Charley German for a first down on the Eagles 39.

Continue March

John Brunner, Merkle and Faunce combined for another first on the 25 before Faunce hit Dennis with a pass on the Eagles 15. Kenny Huber made a first on the 14, and then found Jerry Keyser open on the 3 with a short pass. Two plays later Huber stepped back and hurled to Faunce in the end zone for the game's first TD, with 10:43 remaining in the second canto.

Lock Haven put across the tying points with 4:17 left in the stanza, marching 57 yards in six plays. Magulick climaxed the drive by throwing a 27-yard aerial to Dintiman, who took the ball on the six and skirted into the end zone for a 6-6 deadlock. This is the way it stood until halftime.

East Stroudsburg couldn't get an attack going in the third period and only the Herculean punting of German kept the Bald Eagles back in their own area. But midway in the quarter, Lock Haven shot away and loped off 70 yards on smashes by Dintiman, end runs by Mumford and passes from Magulick to Rudy and Seeley. But the drive stalled on the one and ESSTC took over after a great goal line stand.

Finally Pays Off

Two minutes later the penetration into Warrior territory paid off for the Eagles when ESSTC was forced to go to the air more than usual. John Feyock plucked off one of Faunce's tosses on the ESSTC 33 and ambled to the 10 where he lateraled to John Engler who raced the rest of the way for the tie-breaking score. Engler also converted to make it 13-6.

Lock Haven kept the Warriors in their own bailiwick in the fourth stanza to set up its last points. After German got the "Hill" men out of a temporary danger with a 54-yard boot to the Lock Haven 29, the Eagles set sail again.

Dintiman, Engler, Mumford and Magulick spearheaded a drive to the ESSTC 39 before the Warriors held. But again the Eagles line, led by tackle-guard Fred Caro, stopped the Martimen at every turn.

Romerger's boot was downed at midfield and Lock Haven, with the aid of a personal foul penalty, moved to the Warrior 35. Magulick, on a one-man exhibition on the option play, kept three times for good yardage and drove to the 12. Here with a fourth down situation and six to go, Engler just made the uplight with a field goal for Lock Haven's 16th point.

With reserves on the field, neither team threatened seriously after this.

Sun Strokes—ESSTC officials, led by President LeRoy Koehler, inaugurated the first bicycle unit in President Eisenhower's Fitness Program. Harry Obitz, head golf professional at Shawnee CC, and Carl Watkins, one of his associates, featured a program that took the place of the usual halftime ceremonies.

Another added attraction was the showing of the Homecoming Day Queen—Rosemary Lobb of Pen Argil—and her court to the old, new and undergrads.

Oscar J. Liljenstein, head of the health education department, also was a guest speaker at the "first bike" send off.

ND's Brennan Gets New Life Via Army Win

By ED CORRIGAN
By Associated Press

WHATEVER happens the rest of the season, Coach Terry Brennan of Notre Dame probably has taken the heat off himself. There was talk he was on the spot because of the 2-8 record the Irish compiled last year.

They already have bettered that mark and their 23-21 victory over Army Saturday in Philadelphia left them with a 3-0 record. The game marked the renewal of one of the most colorful series in college football after a 10-year hiatus.

Until the Army game, Brennan has his fingers crossed. Despite triumphs over Purdue and Indiana, the Irish were an unknown quantity. Army was one of the strongest teams in the East.

Monty Sticklers turned from a goat to the hero of the Irish in a couple of minutes. First, he missed, a conversion try at 21-all. The Irish were behind 21-7, in the third period.

But then, he kicked a fourth-period field goal. He said it was the first time he ever had attempted a field goal.

Elsewhere, Oklahoma, No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll, licked Texas, 21-7, for its 43rd victory in a row. The Longhorns led 7-0 in the first period. The Sooners count the day lost when they don't win by a half dozen touchdowns.

"It was a whole of a game," said Sooner Coach Bud Wilkinson. Michigan State, the second-ranked team in the nation, ground neighborhood rival Michigan into the Ann Arbor, Mich., turf, 35-6. Michigan was not supposed to be a pushover, either, holding the No. 6 national ranking.

Texas A&M, No. 3 and the favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, whipped Houston 28-6 with Roddie Osborne and John Crow setting the pace. Fourth-ranked Minnesota, heading straight for its Nov. 16 meeting with Michigan State, vanquished Northwestern 41-6.

Duke, No. 5, had a scare, edging Rice 7-6 for the Owls first defeat. Oregon State, the defending Pacific Coast Champion and rated No. 7, had no trouble with Idaho 20-0. Iowa, No. 8, an outfit which is nursing hopes of slipping past Michigan State and Minnesota in the Big 10, crushed Indiana 47-7.

Auburn, No. 9, continued to look like a definite contender in the Southeastern Conference race by topping Kentucky, 6-0. Georgia Tech, which hoped to come back after losing the crown in '56, was upset by Louisiana State 20-13.

Tennessee, which dethroned Georgia Tech last year, slugged Chattanooga 28-13. Maryland finally came alive and defeated Wake Forest 28-0, giving Coach Tommy Mount his first moment of happiness this season.

In the Ivy League, Princeton, favored to win the title, licked improving Penn 13-9. Brown was blanked by dark horse Dartmouth, 35-0. Penn State and Pitt, two of the contenders for the mythical Eastern crown, both won. Penn State halted William and Mary 21-13 and Pitt shut out Nebraska 34-0.

Middleweights Headline Week's Boxing Schedule

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

MIDDLEWEIGHTS, the meat ticket fighters for the promoters these days, are featured in the three network television bouts of the week. Top fight on the national card matches husky Rory Calhoun, of New York and crafty Rocky Castellani, 30, of Cleveland in the first boxing card at New York's Madison Square Garden in seven months.

Calhoun, 23, third ranking 160-pounder, is favored over the one-time high ranking contender in the Friday NBC radio-TV, 9 p.m. (EST) 10 rounder. Rory has a 23-1 record compared to Castellani's 65-12-4 slate.

Picture punching Spider Webb, sixth ranking middleweight contender from Chicago, mixes with rugged Jackie LaBua of East Meadow, N. Y., in the television topper (ABC 9 p.m. EST) at Louisville, Ky., Wednesday. Webb's record is 23-2. LaBua's 28-11. Webb subs for the injured Tiger Jones.

A couple of newcomers to network television, unbeaten, untied Gene "Ace" Armstrong of Elizabeth, N. J., and unbeaten, once-tied Eddie "Machine Gun" Thompson of Little Rock, Ark., collide at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tomorrow night (DuMont, 9:30 p.m., EST). Thompson has a 12-0-1 record. Armstrong has won all 11 of his pro fights.

FOOT BRIDGE REOPENED—A rebuilt foot bridge spanning the Pocono Creek between N. Ninth St. and the rear of Stroud Union High School was reopened yesterday. Built by the "Doodle Hill Construction Co.," composed of volunteers who contributed time, labor and money, it replaces a span which was washed out in the 1955 flood. Bridge will prove a boon to high school students in the Ninth St. and W. Main St. areas. (Staff Photo By MacLeod)

Bridge Open To Use By Pedestrians

PEDESTRIANS using the reconstructed foot bridge between N. Ninth St. and the rear of Stroud Union High School yesterday were urged to use care in crossing the span.

Members of the "Doodle Hill Construction Co.," which rebuilt the bridge using volunteer materials and labor, said it is usable with caution. It was opened on Saturday.

Avoid Swinging
They particularly asked pedestrians to avoid swinging and bouncing on the bridge.

Work on the span is expected to be completed in the near future. It was opened for traffic for the first time yesterday.

Members of the organization warned that persons who attempt to destroy the span will be prosecuted. They pointed out that the bridge contains about $5,000 worth of materials and represents about 800 man hours of labor.

The 200-foot long span was washed away in the 1955 flood.
